

The Sincerity of Sultan Nuruddin Zangi

In the 12th century, with the Islamic world fractured and Crusaders occupying Jerusalem, Nuruddin Zangi arose. His name meant "Light of the Faith," and his mission was to fight the Crusaders who were ravaging the Muslim lands.

He understood that Muslim weakness was spiritual. He united warring emirs under Islam, building a just state with schools (madrasas) and piety. He spent his life preparing for the liberation of Muslim lands, defeating Crusader armies and breaking their spirit.

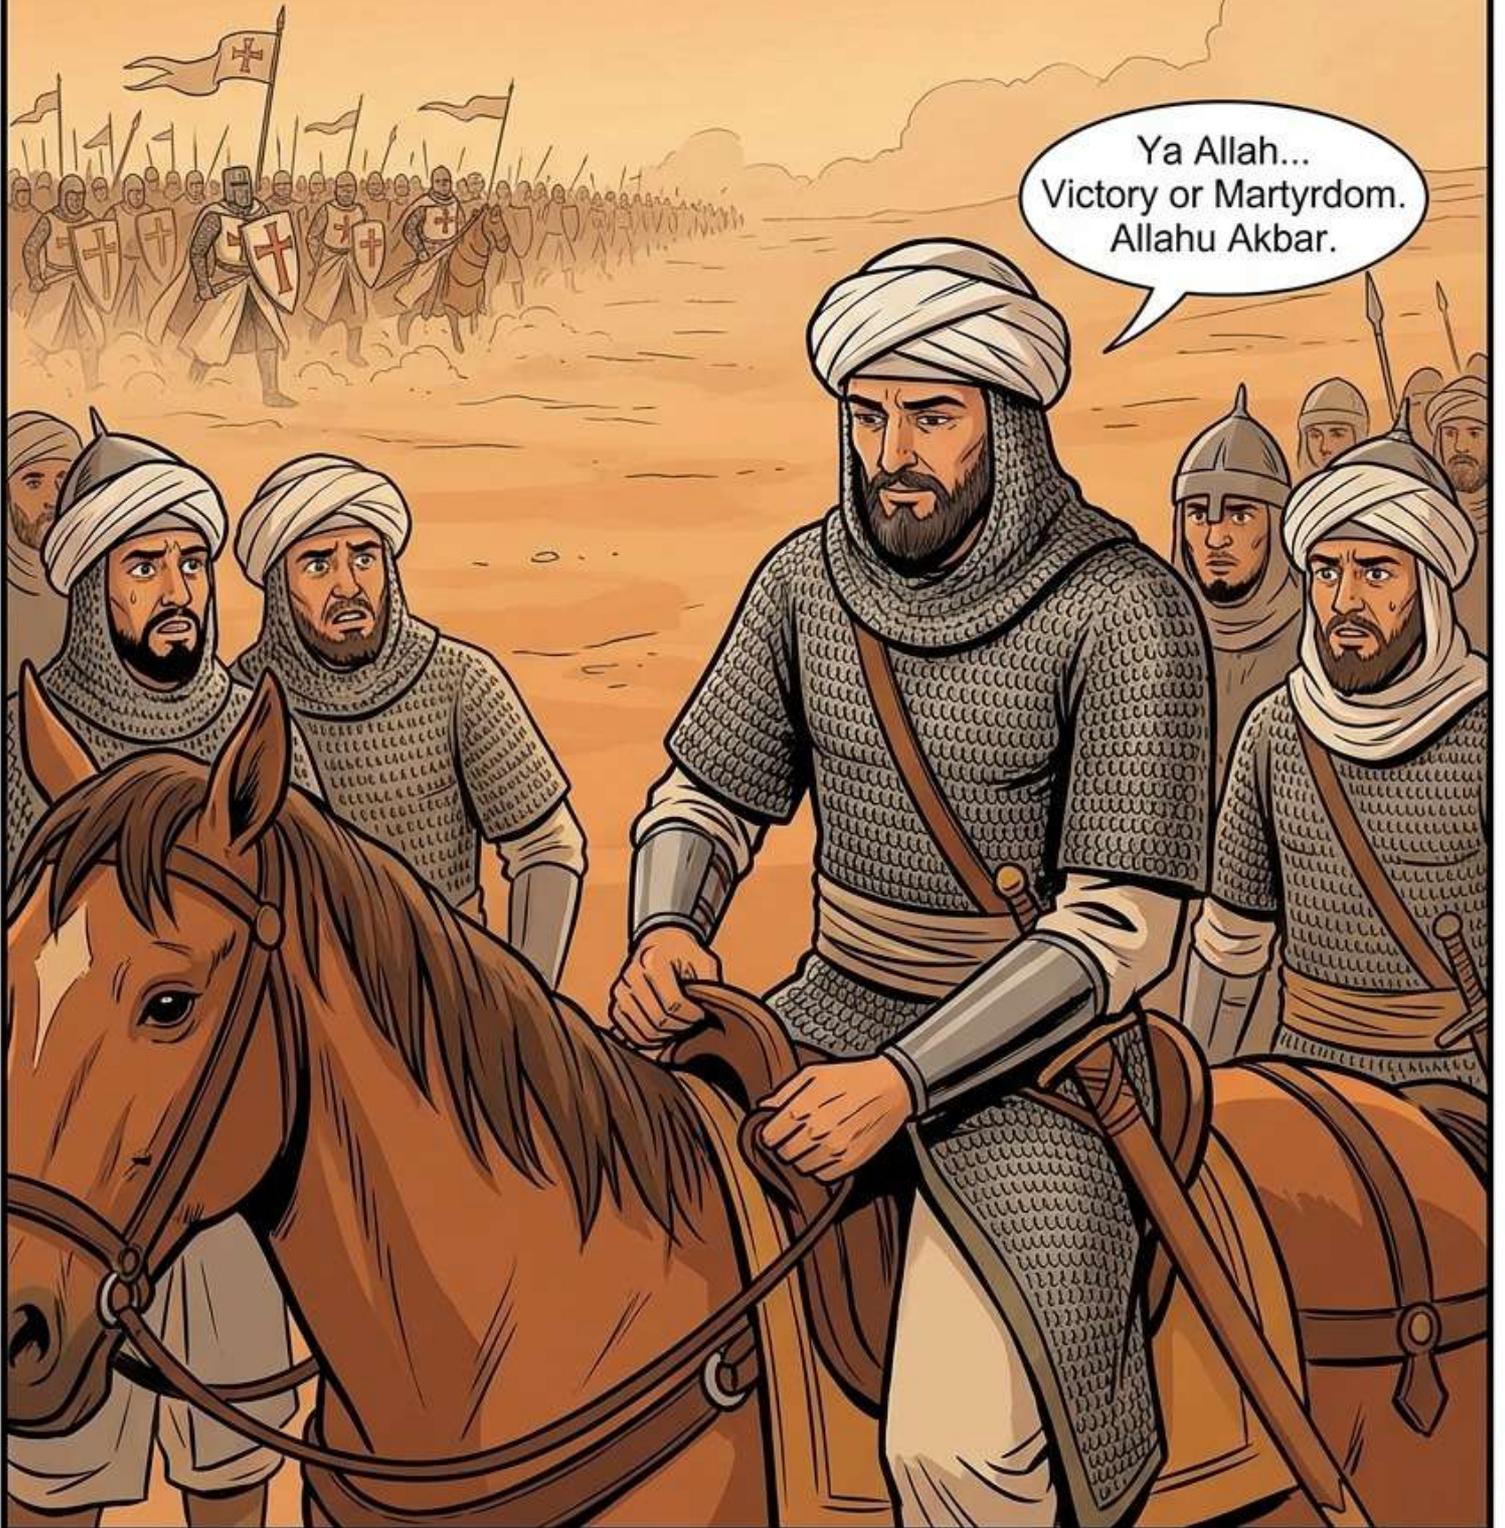

Though he died before Jerusalem's final liberation, he laid its foundation. He was the torchbearer who lit the path for his successor, Salahuddin Al-Ayyubi, to fulfill the dream. Let us read an authentic anecdote from his life, InshaAllah...

The Sincerity of Sultan Nuruddin Zangi

Syria, 12th Century. The Crusaders press hard against the edges of the Muslim world.

Ya Allah...
Victory or Martyrdom.
Allahu Akbar.

In times of war, he was always the first to fight.

CLASH!

RING!

I have fought many battles... I have sought the rank of the martyrs in every one of them.

SHHHT!

The battle has slowed. The Sultan is breathless, his armor stained with dust and blood, looking at his unscathed hands with a hint of sadness. Imam Qutb Ad-Din An-Naysaburi approaches him, looking frantic.

I wished to be a martyr today, Imam... but once again, I did not obtain my wish.

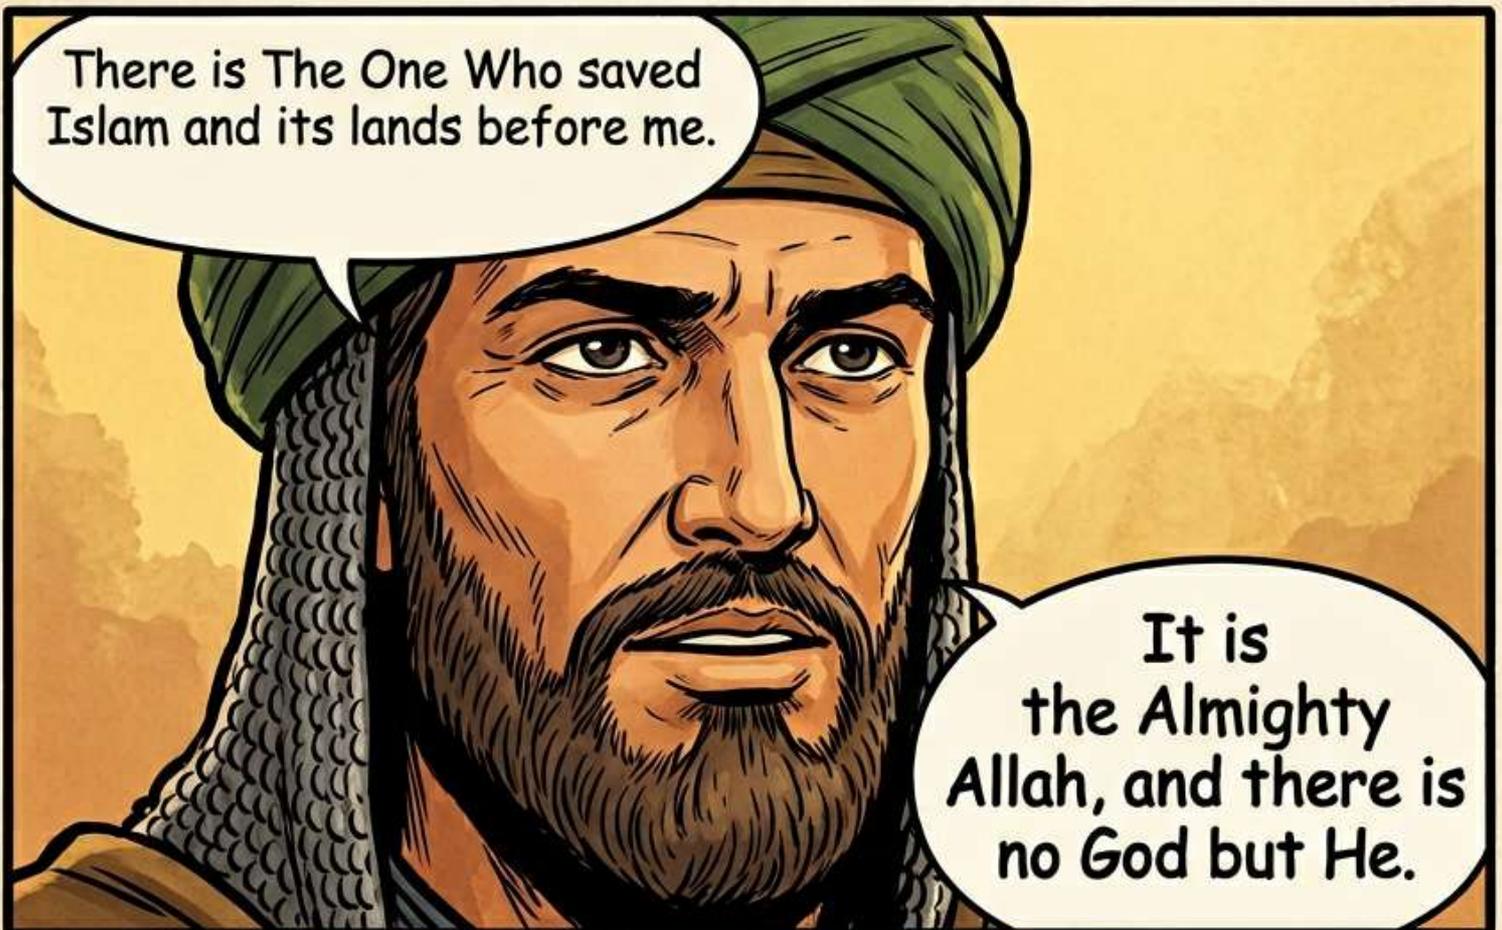

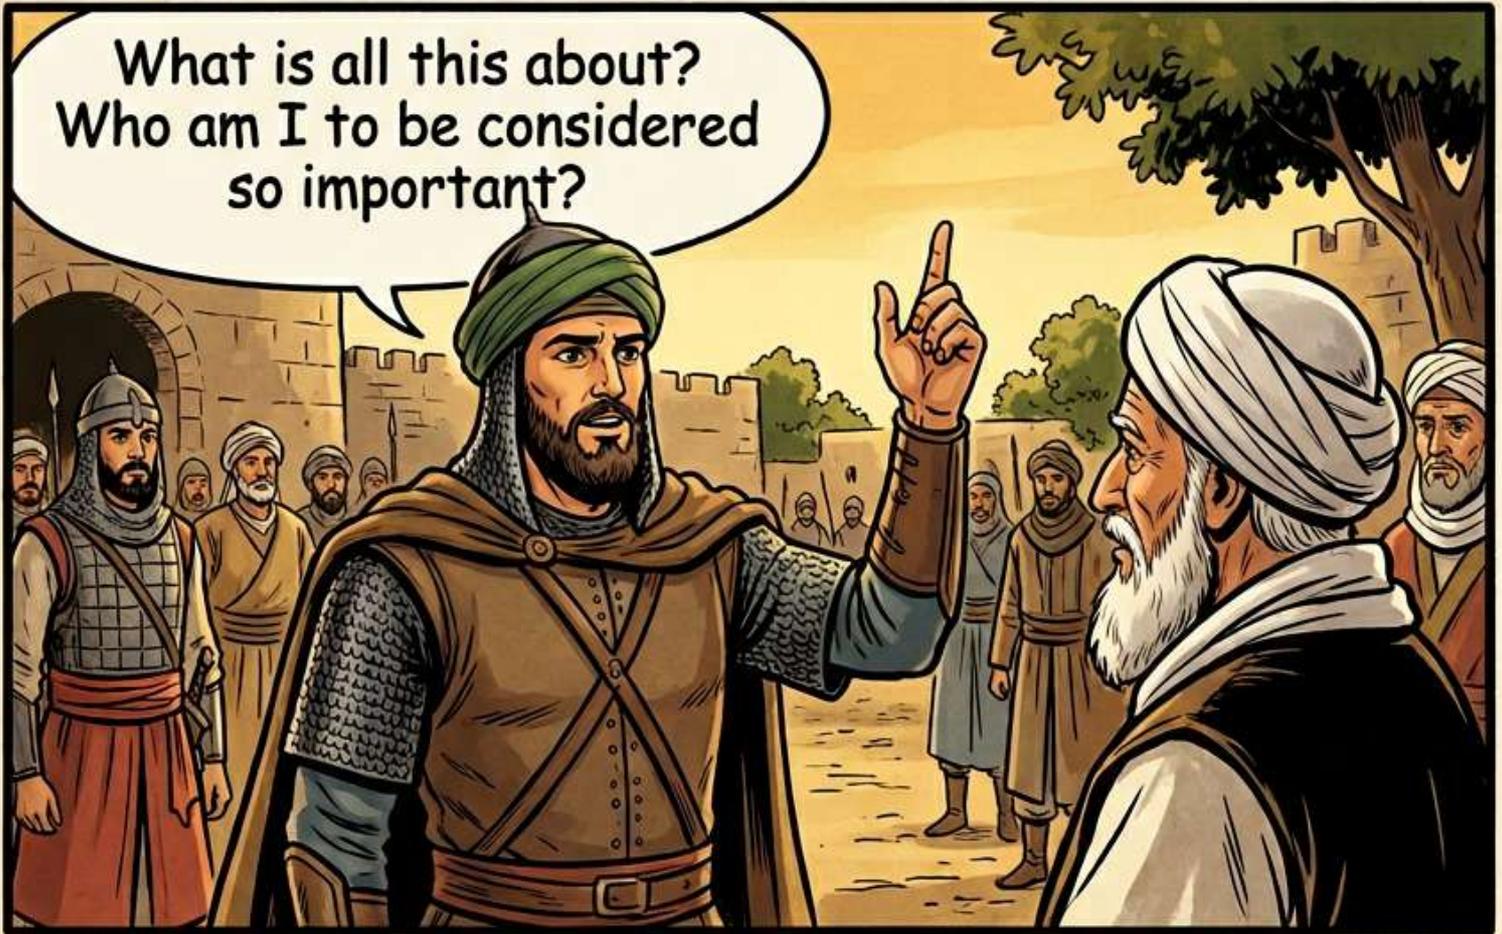

My Sultan! You cannot speak this way!

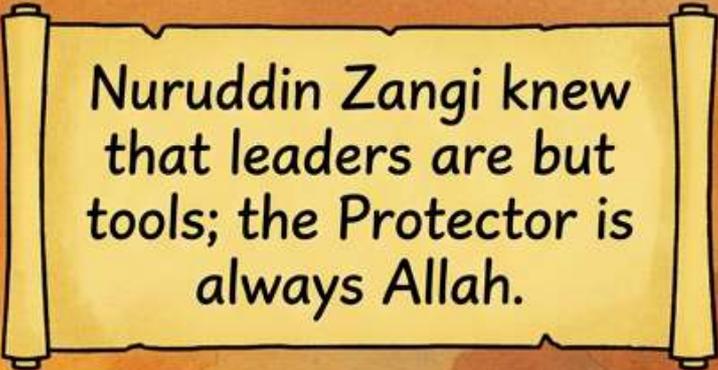

Imam Qutb Ad-Din An-Naysaburi

I adjure you in the name of Allah! Do not risk your life so recklessly! You are the backbone of the Muslims.

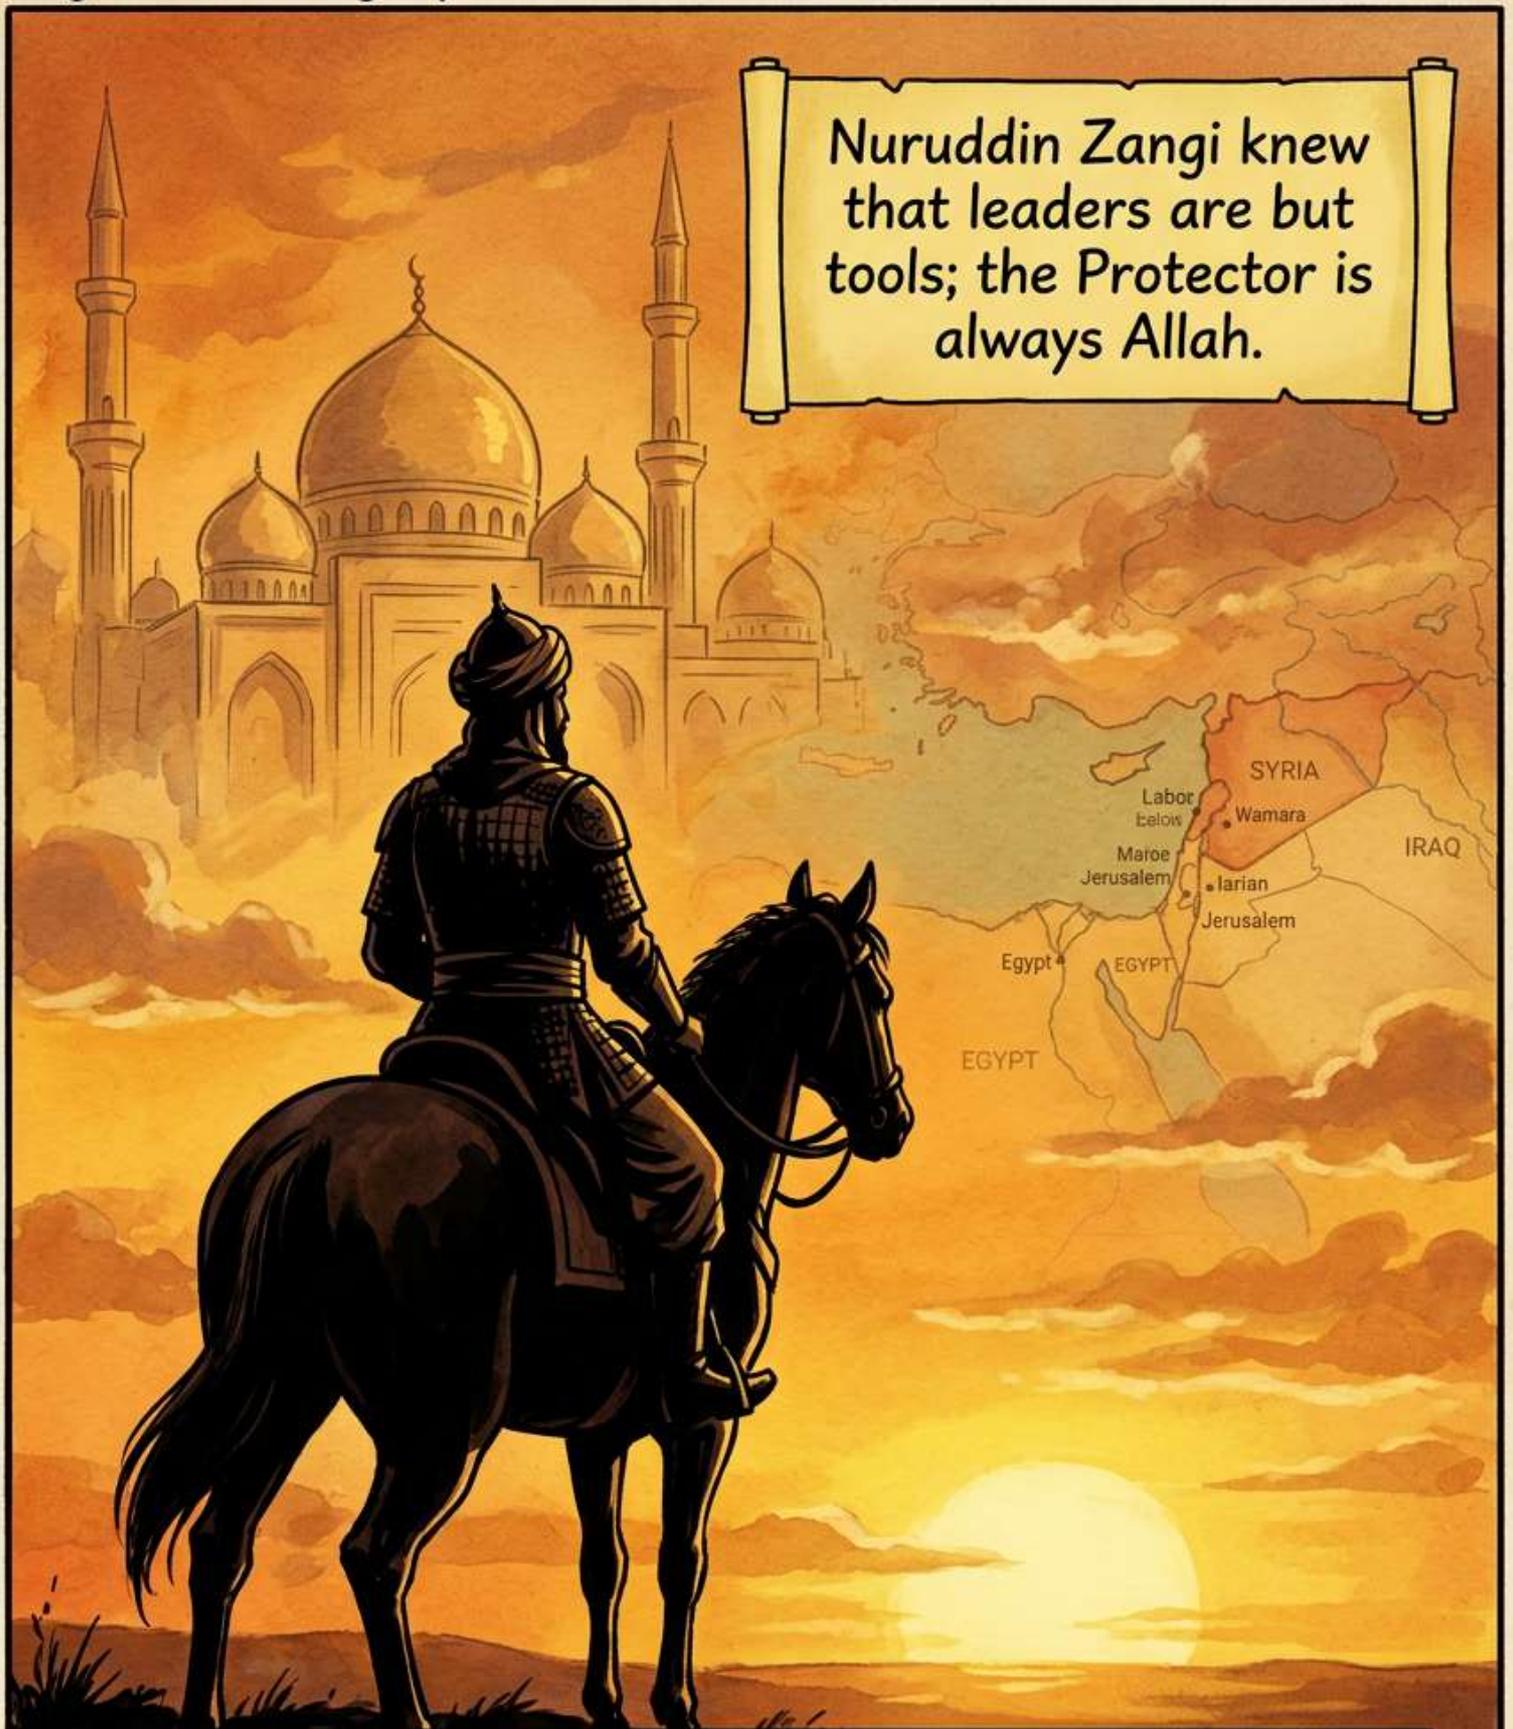

If you are killed in battle, the Muslims will be murdered and their lands will be invaded. You are the only thing standing between them and ruin!

Nuruddin Zangi knew that leaders are but tools; the Protector is always Allah.

“And rely upon the Ever-Living who does not die...”
